RecoverCare Helps Haiti To Heal

In the years since tragedy hit Haiti, RecoverCare has donated over 200 new products, including therapeutic mattress systems to the Physicians for Peace program at the Hanger Clinic at the Albert Schweitzer Hospital in Deschapelles. The goods are shipped with the help of the Clinton Foundation.

“Thanks to RecoverCare’s generous donations, Haitian patients suffering from injury and disease can recover comfortably and with dignity,” says Brig. Gen. Ron Sconyers (USAF, Ret.), president & CEO of Physicians for Peace.

Physicians for Peace sends volunteer medical professionals to developing countries worldwide to provide training and education to health care workers who will later heal tens of thousands of patients in the underserved populations. At the Hanger Clinic in Haiti, the volunteers are physical therapists who work with amputee victims and other disabled patients.
